Agent-Based Modeling as Tool for Theory Construction: A Review of the Literature

John A. Bernau, PhD
Director of Digital Scholarship
Center for the Study of Law and Religion
Emory University

Abstract

A bunch of text here. Function just like a just like a table. Ok now I'm writing like normal table. Ok, now I've turned off spell check. And some more text here about the important implications of my theory which no one else could have accomplished. A bunch of text here. Function just like a just like a table. Ok now I'm writing like normal table. Ok, now I've turned off spell check. And some more text here about the important implications of my theory which no one else could have accomplished.

1. Introduction

A bunch of text here. Function just like a just like a table. Ok now I'm writing like normal table. Ok, now I've turned off spell check. And some more text here about the important implications of my theory which no one else could have accomplished. A bunch of text here. Function just like a just like a table. Ok now I'm writing like normal table. Ok, now I've turned off spell check. And some more text here about the important implications of my theory which no one else could have accomplished.

Adding a section here. Reviewer 1 wants to see XYZ and I am going to oblige them.

A bunch of text here. Function just like a just like a table. Ok now I'm writing like normal table. Ok, now I've turned off spell check. And some more text here about the important implications of my theory which no one else could have accomplished. A bunch of text here. Function just like a just like a table. Ok now I'm writing like normal table. Ok, now I've turned off spell check. And some more text here about the important implications of my theory which no one else could have accomplished. A bunch of text here. Function just like a just like a table. Ok now I'm writing like normal table. Ok, now I've turned off spell check. And some more text here about the important implications of my theory which no one else could have accomplished. A bunch of text here. Function just like a just like a table. Ok now I'm writing like normal table. Ok, now I've turned off spell check. And some more text here about the important implications of my theory which no one else could have accomplished.

2. Theoretical Motivation

A bunch of text here. Function just like a just like a table. Ok now I'm writing like normal table. Ok, now I've turned off spell check. And some more text here about the important implications of my theory which no one else could have accomplished. A bunch of text here. Function just like a just like a table. Ok now I'm writing like normal table. Ok, now I've turned off spell check. And some more text here about the important implications of my theory which no one else could have accomplished. Reviewer 3 wants more citations here so I'm adding this sentence and removing another one. Ok, now I've turned off spell check. And some more text here about the important implications of my theory which no one else could have accomplished. A bunch of text here. Function just like a just like a table. Ok now I'm writing like normal table. Ok, now I've turned off spell check. And some more text here about the important implications of my theory which no one else could have accomplished.

> A bunch of text here. Function just like a just like a table. Ok now I'm writing like normal table. Ok, now I've turned off spell check. And some more text here about the important implications of my theory which no one else could have accomplished. A bunch of text here. Function just like a just like a table. Ok now I'm writing like normal table (Schelling 1971: 43).

2.1 Agent-Based Models in Sociology

I'm working on more material here…

2.2 Religious Economy and ABM

3. Historical Justification

4. Methods